Secure your wallet

Before getting started, watch this short video to learn about your recovery phrase and how to keep your wallet safe.

Next

What is a recovery phrase?

Your recovery phrase is the “master key” to your wallet and funds.

How do I save my recovery phrase?

- Save in a password manager
- Store in a bank vault.
- Store in a safe-deposit box.
- Write down and store in multiple secret places.

Should I share my recovery phrase?

Never, ever share your recovery phrase, even with MetaMask!

If someone asks for your recovery phrase, they are most likely trying to scam you.

Tips on storing it safely

- Save a backup in multiple places.
- Never share the phrase with anyone.
- Be careful of phishing! MetaMask will never spontaneously ask for your Secret Recovery Phrase.
- If you need to back up your Secret Recovery Phrase again, you can find it in Settings -> Security.
- If you ever have questions or see something fishy, contact our support here.

Read moreLedger Support Update for Chrome Users

As of Chrome version 91, the API that enabled our Ledger support (U2F) no longer supports hardware wallets. MetaMask has implemented a new Ledger Live support that allows you to continue to connect to your Ledger device via the Ledger Live desktop app.

You can enable Ledger Live support by clicking Settings > Advanced > Use Ledger Live.

When interacting with your Ledger account in MetaMask, a new tab will open and you will be asked to open the Ledger Live app. Once the app opens, you'll be asked to allow a WebSocket connection to your MetaMask account. That's all!

The image shows a Google search for "metamask wallet" on a desktop browser. The search results include a link to metamask.io, a knowledge panel for MetaMask software, and a list of "People also ask" questions. Overlaid on the right side of the browser window is the MetaMask wallet interface, which displays "Account 1" with a balance of 0 ETH ($0.00 USD) and options to Buy, Send, or Swap tokens. A red arrow points from the MetaMask icon in the browser's extension bar to the wallet interface overlay.
